President Asks $2 Billion Increase For Defense Work Including Subs, Missiles

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy asked Congress today for a boost of nearly $2 billion in the nation's defense program primarily to beef up Polaris missile submarine and Minuteman missile projects.

Kennedy said he asked this step up in the defense budget he inherited from the Eisenhower administration because the United States must continue to have "the ability to survive a first blow and respond with devastating power."

The President said his requests stemmed from the reappraisal of the U. S. defense posture he requested Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara to make last January. While the review is many months short of completion, Kennedy said, "circumstances do not permit a postponement of all further action."

BRIEF GAP MENTION

There was only the briefest mention in Kennedy's message to comparable U. S.-Soviet missile strength and whether the Soviet Union enjoys a so-called "missile gap" advantage over this country.

"It has been publicly acknowledged for several years," Kennedy said, "that this nation has not led the world in missile strength."

During last year's presidential campaign Kennedy said there was a missile gap. This was challenged by Republicans. Last month, Kennedy said it would be "premature to reach a judgment as to whether there is a gap or not a gap" until the McNamara study was completed.

CITES READINESS

In today's message, Kennedy said deterrent strength did not depend "upon a simple comparison of missiles on hand before an attack." Rather, he said, "depends not only on the number of our missiles and bombers, but on their state of readiness, their ability to survive attack, and the flexibility and sureness with which we can control them to achieve our national purpose and strategic objectives."

The shifts in the Pentagon budget recommended by Kennedy would produce these net changes in financing:

The total of new obligatory authority (authorizing the services to order equipment to be paid in the next and subsequent years) would go up $1.954 billion—from the $1.840 billion proposed in the Eisenhower budget to $43.794 billion.

SPENDING GOES UP

Spending—or actual money to pay defense bills—would go up about $890 million, of which $650 million would be during the coming year.

175 FRUITMEN AT DISCUSSION OF NEW APPLE LEGISLATION

Pennsylvania's proposed apple marketing order legislation will "do nothing in itself, it will simply make it possible for the state's fruit growers to levy an assessment on themselves for promotion, research or information—if they so desire," according to panel speakers appearing before 175 fruit growers from Adams, Cumberland and Franklin Counties Monday night at Biglerville.

The "information meeting" was called by County Agent Frank S. Zettle.

Assemblyman Francis Worley was not a panel member but became a principal speaker. He told the growers: "I think persons have their nerve to use the state government machinery to promote their own pocketbooks. If we start this with apples there will be no end. Every Tom, Dick and Harry will want to use state machinery for his own ends and if you let one do it, you can't stop the others. You will probably find eventually the Department of Commerce will be promoting booze."

RAINEY EXPLAINS BILL

John Rainey, director of the state Bureau of Markets, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, was a member of the panel and opened the discussion by outlining the provisions of House Bill 337. Assemblyman Worley demanded to know if Rainey represented the Lawrence administration in this. Rainey said that he wasn't here to push any administration matter but since he was a state employee he "guessed" he did. Worley then said: "Well, I represent the state government too, so I've a right to speak."

Worley also held that the proposal for a marketing order is "in my opinion unconstitutional." He said: "75 per cent of the people of Adams County are against it."

EXPLAINS OPERATION

Rainey explained that the proposed bill would set up machinery whereby growers could petition for referendum. If such petition is received, hearings would be held and a marketing order drawn up. The marketing order would spell out such things as the amount to be paid per bushel or hundred-

Believe Family Of 12 Perished

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Officials believe Mr. and Mrs. Alex Whitehead and their nine children perished in an early morning fire which destroyed their frame home in the nearby Dotsonville community of upper middle Tennessee.

Embers from the burning debris prevented firemen from searching the ruins immediately but Sheriff Kenneth Albright said the entire family is missing, along with Mrs. Whitehead's father, Albert Gibbs, who lived with them.

"I wish I could say some of them didn't die," Albright said, indicating he feared the toll would reach 12.

The children ranged in age from 13 years to nine months. Sheriff Albright said he had not determined how the fire started, but the Clarksville fire department was called about 4 a.m.

Whitehead was employed by a Clarksville soft drink bottling firm.

WILL INSPECT GARBAGE CANS

Chief of Police Jack Bartlett announced today that an inspection of garbage cans in the borough will be made within the next two weeks to see that all regulations concerning the disposal of garbage and refuse are observed.

Bartlett said that a borough ordinance defines garbage as "the animal or vegetable refuse from the storage, sale, preparation or use of foodstuffs such as meats, fish, fruits or vegetables, and all other foodstuffs for human consumption."

He said that occupants of dwellings and proprietors of businesses where garbage and refuse are produced are required by law to maintain containers which are to be made of non-absorbent material, be watertight and flytight, be provided with handles and closely fitted covers. He said that the containers, when emptied, are to be cleaned by the owner.

START APRIL 10

The chief stressed that the ordinance provides a penalty of a fine of not more than $10 and costs, and in default of this fine, a jail term not to exceed 10 days.

Bartlett said the inspections will begin April 10.

He said it is unlawful to burn any type of garbage in the borough, but it is legal to burn paper or cardboard if all regulations are complied with.

ing fiscal year 1962. The Eisenhower spending proposal was $42.9 billion. Kennedy's was $43.8 billion.

Underlying the revisions requested by the President was the position of the United States "as a power which will never strike first." As such, Kennedy said, "our hopes for anything close to an absolute deterrent must rest on weapons which come from hidden moving or invulnerable bases which will not be wiped out by a surprise attack."

SKYBOLT PROJECT

In addition to Polaris and Minuteman, which accounted for almost $1.5 billion of the suggested boost, Kennedy asked for funds to strengthen the Skybolt long-range nuclear-warhead ballistic missile, increase the ground alert force and bomb alarms, improve continental defense and warning systems, increase flexibility of conventional forces and increase military manpower by 13,000.

Kennedy said savings could be made by the "elimination of waste, duplication and outmoded or unjustifiable expenditure items." He proposed abandonment of two squadrons of the Titan missile, much of the B70 manned bomber program, a number of B47 medium bomber wings and military interest in the atomic-powered plane project.

weight of apples, whether the assessment would be on fresh apples or all apples, or whether it would be one amount on apples to be sold for fresh fruit and another on apples for processing. It would also spell out how the money so raised was to be allocated for promotion, research or information services—the only three uses for the money permitted by the bill.

It would also spell out how the money is to be collected and how it will be spent, whether by organizations or through existing groups such as Appalachian Apple, etc. The order will be submitted to the growers for a vote. The bill provides that information on the order and voting must be sent to every known grower in the state. If two thirds of the growers, who represent 50 per cent or more of the production, favor it, then the marketing agreement will go into effect. Both qualifications must be met. The "three-fourths" and "50 per cent" represent those growers who vote, Rainey said. "It was the only way we could think of to make it practical. If the statement were two-thirds of all growers and 50 per cent of all the crop it would be impossible to ever determine whether or not your had those figures. It would be in court forever."

COULD BE CANCELLED

Arthur Rice, Gettysburg, who heads the state Horticultural Association legislative committee which produced the bill, said that "legally every one who owns one apple tree may vote in the referendum. But because of the problem of collection of the assessment if the referendum passes, it would probably provide that growers with less than say 500 trees would not be assessed. That is the way they do it in New York."

Rainey, Rice and J. Collins McSparran, master of the Pennsylvania State Grange, the members of the panel favoring the bill, noted that the bill would provide "for methods of cancelling the order if it is adopted. And the methods of cancellation are much easier than the requirements for establishing an order. The secretary of agriculture can cancel the order if weather is bad or other emergency requires cancellation. Or it can be cancelled by petition of one more than one-third of the growers, or if 10 per cent of the growers petition for a referendum on cancellation and a simple majority approves cancellation."

NO EXTRA JOBS

In response to a question about "making political jobs," Rainey and Rice pointed out that the bill provides for the setting up of a board of growers, "probably 12," which would be in charge of administration and hire any employees that might be needed. Rainey suggested that if the marketing order provided for the funds to go directly to the various agencies already set up for apple promotion no employees would be needed, "our bureau could simply accept the checks from the growers and then mail the money to the appropriate agency." Rice said the New York apple marketing order "has only one employee."

Jack Grey, York, president of the Pennsylvania Canners' Association, told the group the processors "take no position on the bill. We had a meeting three weeks ago to determine the position of the processors and found there were about as many different positions as there were processors." Grey, in reply to a question whether the bill proposed allocation of apples, held that it did not. He said the processors would be opposed to any such Pennsylvania law which put them "at a disadvantage with their competitors."

Hollis Hatfield, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Farmers' Association, was the panelist most opposed to passage of the apple bill. He held that his organization had the wording of the law changed from "agricultural commodities" to apple "to protect the rest of agriculture." He mentioned a number of marketing orders, especially one for cling peaches in California, which limit production.

Rice finally declared: "Nothing in this bill says anything about production control. I resent its being brought up. It is not in the bill and the fruitgrowers are not for it and I don't think the legislature is for it."

OPINION POLL BLOCKED

McSparran joined Rice in the attack on Hatfield's position saying: "This bill is just what it says. It is only for promotion and research and information. There is nothing else in it. Ever since the bill has been started, groups have been bringing up ghosts and goblins of things that could happen but which are not in this bill. Some other bill could be brought up with production control in it. But not this one, unless it is amended."

The Rev. A. W. Geigley asked if a vote might be taken to determine the opinion of those present. County Agent Zettle held such a vote would be out of order because "this is strictly an information meeting."

At the end of the meeting State Senator D. Elmer Hawbaker asked the growers to let him and Assemblyman Worley "know what your opinions are on this matter. We now know the opinions of the panelists, but we don't know the opinions of you gentlemen."

to $1,387,000. It is interesting to note that New York and Massachusetts, neither of which has a Civil War battlefield on its soil, have appropriated $25,000 and $50,000 respectively. Maryland has made available $315,000 and it is reasonable to suppose that a sizable portion of that sum will be expended in the commemoration next year of the Battle of Antietam, for which a 12-day pageant ending with a re-enactment on September 17 has been planned.

FUNDS IN SOUTH

"Most significant, I think, is the fact that several states of the former Confederacy are making available large appropriations for the commemoration of an event which, in the immediate historic scene, they lost.

"South Carolina has allocated $40,000; Mississippi, $200,000, and Virginia is the state which contributed the impressive sum of $1,387,000.

"Pennsylvania's name does not appear on this list. Whether the lack of a program can be attributed to no funds with which to finance it, or whether the failure to have funds with which to finance a program is the result of no program upon which to base the request for appropriations, is of no great moment. Of overriding importance is the fact that but two years remain before the centennial anniversary that is to be observed. In that short time a tremendous and unceasing effort must be exerted to plan a fitting and proper commemoration, finance it and bring it to fulfillment.

"UNFINISHED WORK"

"The state commission of which I am privileged to be a member was constituted as the 'Pennsylvania 100th Anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg and Lincoln's Gettysburg Address Commission.' This title would suggest that from Lincoln's speech we might well take the theme for our observance of the Civil War centennial. While we commemorate and while we honor, let us acknowledge that the work is an unfinished one. We do no violence to our heritage in admitting that it has not brought us to perfection and that we still must travel some of the road through our own efforts. Let us dedicate our centennial to the memory and the contributions of the past, and the greater glory of the future.

"What form should this commemoration take? This will vary from place to place and from event to event: There will be re-enactments, pageants and other dramatic presentations, dedications of monuments and memorials, speeches and prayers.

"SOBER AND DIGNIFIED"

"The form of the Gettysburg observance, while of great importance, is secondary to the spirit in which it must be presented. It must be sober and dignified, devoid both of a carnival atmosphere and sentimental romanticism. The three-day battle and the speech were both the product of a national catastrophe: The events of the first three days of July, 1863, were horror, bloodshed and the loss of many lives and constituted a major battle of the awful war which still had two years in which to spend itself. The speech was delivered on the scene of that battle in a ceremony dedicating the final resting place for those who died there. It would be better for us to ignore these events than to prostitute them.

"One hundred years ago our country faltering, and unwittingly and unwillingly for the most part, but inexorably and relentlessly moved toward one of the great tragedies of our history. Those four years of fratricidal conflict are a national shame that might appear best to be blotted from our memory. Why then should we seek to commemorate them?

"Some authoritative and persuasive statements have been directed to this question:

"The National Civil War Centennial Commission's formal statement of objectives proclaims in essential part as follows:

"The Civil War was the greatest test our country ever faced. Built of the heroism and endurance that were drawn from men and women of both sections by devotion to principles valued more than life itself, it was our most profound and tragic emotional experience. What was lost in it was lost by all of us. What was finally gained, affecting our national character and national destiny itself — the preservation of the American Union as an instrumentality of freedom for all the peoples of the world — was gained by all of us. The loss, the gain and the experience itself are a common national possession."

"General U. S. Grant III, chairman of the National Civil War Centennial Commission, suggests the following reason:

"The centennial must give us a new understanding of the way in which Americans built from sacrifice and suffering an enduring nation and a lasting peace."

ARREST TRIO
FOR BURGLARY
IN MARYLAND

A breaking and entering which occurred between 6 p.m. Friday and 9 a.m. Saturday at the vacant summer home of Eugene Register, of Bel Air, Md., located on the Hornets Nest Rd., near Emmitsburg, resulted in arrests by Maryland State Police.

Randallstown Barracks apprehended three Emmitsburg R. 1 men Sunday in a Taneytown second-hand store after an investigation by Troopers E. F. Tracy and N. E. Bechtol of the Frederick Barracks, state police said.

BROTHERS INVOLVED

Charged with breaking and entering and larceny of a total of $350 worth of items from the summer home were two brothers, James Anthony Willis, 44, and George Bernard Willis, 37, and a friend, Raymond Glenn Hess, 42, all of Emmitsburg R. 1.

The men were placed on $5,000 bond each and on failure to pay their bond were held in the Frederick County jail over the weekend awaiting a trial scheduled for Saturday at 10 a.m. in the Emmitsburg Magistrate's Court.

Randallstown Barracks state police said they found the trio trying to sell an 18-inch chain power saw valued at $170 which they had stolen from the Register summer home at the Taneytown second-hand store on Sunday.

OLD RIFLE STOLEN

Also stolen from the Register residence were an eight-millimeter Mauser rifle valued at $75, an 1838 Springfield muzzle-loading antique rifle worth $75, a $25 electric hand drill and miscellaneous small items.

The thieves gained entrance to the summer home by smashing a window on the northeast corner of the vacant house and reaching in to unlatch the window. Trooper Bechtol, who was in charge of the investigation, said last night.

CRANFORD, N. J. (AP)—Leonard Franklin Sawvel, 77, former owner and publisher of the old Elizabeth (N.J.) Evening Times, died Saturday. Sawvel, who at one time owned a daily newspaper in Waukegan, Ill., was the founder of the national magazine of the Loyal Order of Moose. He was born in Canfield, Ohio.

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP)—J. Leroy Johnson, 71, Republican representative in Congress from California's 11th District from 1942 to 1956, died today.

lie over 21 hours since last Thursday morning.

The end of the three-month trial—59 working days in court—came with dramatic swiftness before about 80 intent spectators in a drab, eighth-floor courtroom in the 35-year-old Hall of Justice.

Co-prosecutor Crall said: "This restores my faith in the jury system. This (the guilty verdict) should have happened in the first trial."

GOING TO APPEAL

Maxwell S. Keith, young attorney who took over Finch's defense for the third trial, said: "We are definitely going to appeal. I am disappointed and surprised over the verdict."

Carole's attorney, Donald S. Bringgold, refused to comment. The verdict climaxes a case that attracted worldwide attention since "Bunny" Finch, as friends called her, was found dead on a next-door lawn.

Prosecutors claimed the then wealthy surgeon and his mistress cold-bloodedly killed Mrs. Finch so they could marry without a costly divorce settlement. Finch testified the shooting was an accident.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and
The Gettysburg Times

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Largest Woman in County Dead: The funeral of the largest person ever buried in Adams County took place on Monday in Gettysburg when the body of Mrs. Ida Milberry, colored, was interred in the Colored Cemetery at this place. Mrs. Milberry's weight was almost five hundred pounds.

It was with difficulty that the casket was taken from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Nellie Anderson, without removing a portion of the frame and eight pallbearers were necessary to carry the coffin.

Mrs. Milberry died on Sunday at the home of her daughter with whom she had been making her home for the past two years. Prior to that time she was a resident of Maryland.

Scouts To Watch Tramps: The Gettysburg Troop of Boy Scouts are much interested in the announcement that Daniel C. Beard, National Scout Commissioner of the Boy Scouts of America, has devised a means by which the boys throughout the county can make a systematic war upon yeggmen and hoboes who molest housewives and rob homes. He is doing this by teaching the boys the secret signs of the yegg fraternity, so that the boys may know them and tell what the mystical marks on fences, houses and other buildings mean. By making the secrets of the tramps common knowledge, Beard hopes to destroy the communication between the tramps and thus prevent them from doing so much harm.

Child Near Death: Carl, the four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Pius Becker, of Hanover, made a narrow escape from death Saturday. Mr. Becker moved that day from Conewago Twp., Adams County, to a house which had been vacated by a family who, it is said, left a bottle containing carbolic acid in the garden. The child found the bottle and drank some of the liquid. The parent observed the child's condition and hastily telephoned for Dr. H. M. Allman. The child's mouth and throat were badly burned by the acid, but from present indications, the doctor is of the opinion that no serious result will follow.

A Severe Storm: A severe wind, rain and hail storm passed over Gettysburg and the county Monday afternoon. Only minor damage was done here but in neighboring counties it was more severe. In York County trees were uprooted, telegraph poles torn down and buildings unroofed.

A barn on the farm of John Ness, north of York, was picked up by the wind and carried a distance of 150 feet, being thrown against the power transmission wire of the York Haven Company. The wire was torn down, crippling York's trolley and electric light system.

John C. Lower In Local Store: John C. Lower has purchased the interest of Mr. E. P. Miller formerly with the Gettysburg Department Store, and will assume his new duties on April 3d next.

Mr. Lower has been engaged in the wholesale grocery trade for the past forty years, principally as a salesman, but has also had rich experience in purchasing goods in a large way. He was for fifteen years with Messrs. Fink Brothers and Company of Baltimore, sixteen years in Philadelphia with Messrs. H. K. Kinkig and Company and the past nine years with Messrs. J. W. Myers and Company of Hagerstown, Maryland.

Today's Talk

ADJUSTABILITY

A man or woman hasn't even translated the first line of life until he or she has learned how to adjust to circumstances.

If your environment seems all wrong, don't try to fight it—accept it!

Then go ahead with the matter at hand. Most people, who pay no attention to their environment, soon find that their environment has changed—almost overnight.

You can call to mind a single incident where fretting or worrying solved anything?

A woman once told me she had been "trying so hard for years to get rid of a bad habit." I advised her to stop trying—to drop it, and pass on.

The more you pamper your faults and failings, the more intimate they become to you—and the less liable you are to lose them.

Adjust yourself to the hourly rhythm of your life and shut the door to everything else. Nothing stays at normal.

I am told by one who has given much thought to the subject that few sons of rich men ever make much of a success separated from the wealth that was handed to them.

The reason for this lies in the fact that few rich men's sons have ever been taught the value back of time and money—as well as muscle!

The triumphant experience is usually had by those only who have learned the lesson back of failure, as well as the lesson in front of success.

And these are the people who are always taking up and doing, asking few questions and complaining about nothing.

My friend, never mind! What of it? Adjust yourself. Smile the conqueror's smile—and go ahead and be one!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Learn Ease"

WINTER'S MORATORIUM

It's getting on to spring, my friend,

So let us not be wholly glum.

In but a few brief days will end

Harsh winter's moratorium.

The tulips through the earth will sprout

To blossom gayly white and red,

And notwithstanding care and doubt

New blooms will grace the pansy bed.

Old winter bade the roses cease

Their lovely payments for a time,

But spring their bonds will soon release;

On fence and wall will rambles climb.

The trees their purpose will resume,

The sun will drive away the cold,

And there will be a wealth of bloom

Of hollyhocks and marigold.

GOVERNOR'S

PROGRAM IS

FARING WELL

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Lawrence's legislative programs have been faring better in the current session of the General Assembly than was the case in 1959.

As a result the 1961 session has accomplished much more than the one two years ago. The main reason is that Democrats control the House and have managed to attract Republican support in the Senate to get quick action on the Democratic administration's program.

Legislators went along with the governor and passed bills calling for $82 million in accelerated tax payments, $16 million in new general taxes, a law to prohibit discrimination in the sale of multi-unit housing.

BUSINESS
They also approved a two-cent boost in the state's five-cent-a-gallon gas tax.

Other major programs on the way to final approval include bills to ban billboards on federal interstate highways, to legalize state practices for fifty years.

The Times has complete equipment for job work. Almost every business house in this section is familiar with the character of work done here and they may be assured that the standard will not be lowered by the connection of Mr. Buehler.

ABOUT LACK OF

ROOM FOR SELF

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The other morning my wife awoke as I leaned out the window of our eighth-floor apartment and pulled up a string to which a pair of my shoes were tied.

"Well, Rover, I give up," said Frances, after a long pause.

"Why did you hang your shoes out the window overnight?"

"To dramatize a problem," I told her crisply.

"Oh, dear, I can see you're ready to launch into one of your long-winded equal-rights-for-husbands speeches," said Frances.

She wrapped a pillow around her ears. "Go ahead. What's the problem vexing your poor battered male ego this time?"

NEED MORE SPACE
"Space control," I replied icily.

"Governments worry about how to control outer space."

"But to me—and every married man I know—the real problem is inner space. We feel space control should begin in the home, and every man should have his fair share of the space available."

"Marriage to every man boils down to a long struggle to find a place in his own castle to keep his personal belongings."

"When we were first married, the only apartment we could afford was so small there was no closet room for me, and I could hardly ever take a shower because the bath was full of clothes drying."

MORE HOUSE, LESS SPACE
"But you said that when we were able to move into a bigger apartment all this would change. Didn't you?"

"I may have," admitted Frances, yawning and snuggling deep into the pillow.

"So I rented us a lot bigger apartment," I went on. "Now we have two big bedrooms, five closets and two bathrooms."

"We now also have a growing daughter and a growing cat," pointed out Frances placidly.

"Yes," I told her, "and between you, our daughter and the cat I have less lebensraum every year."

"You are gradually crowding me out of the apartment."

CAT IS EVERYWHERE
"I still can't take a shower when I want to because the cat has her sandbox in what is laughingly referred to as my bathroom."

"When I want to sit in my favorite chair, the cat is there. If I decide to lie down on the sofa, the cat has managed to get there first."

"Our daughter has taken over as her playroom the study where I planned to write the great American novel. She informed me yesterday I'd even have to get rid of my library. She needs the shelves for her Mother Goose books."

"And you"—I leveled my finger accusingly at my wife—"have taken over what was to be my closet. Every time I open the door that portrait of your father falls down and hits me."

"Everything I own has been stored in the basement or, for all I know, thrown away."

"Perhaps we ought to move out and take a house," said Frances.

"That's no solution," I yelled. "A man could rent the Smithsonian Institution, and in three months his family would have it full of their clutter—and there wouldn't be room for a single thing of his."

"Now do you wonder why I hung my shoes out the window on a string?"

"I guess you do have a problem," agreed my wife. "I'll see what I can do about it."

That night when I came home she handed me a stout rope.

"This ought to help you with your storage problem," said Frances. "You can hang three pairs of your shoes out the window with this. That string might break!"

police to use of radar evidence in prosecuting speeders, and to set up a statewide library program.

Lawrence also is expected to win approval of most of the appropriation measures in his $991 million budget for 1961-62.

This has been a busy legislature. As of March 19, 1,355 bills were introduced in both houses. In 1959 the figure was 1,496 for the same period. Of course, only a small percentage will ever become law but they have to be acted upon just the same.

LENTEN PRAYER FOR TODAY

from Go With God

BY JIM BISHOP

Mme. Germaine de Staël, the celebrated French novelist and essayist who was banished from France for her outspoken criticism of Napoleon, wrote that "To pray together, in whatever tongue or ritual, is the most tender brotherhood of hope and sympathy that men can contract in this life."

The following is a family prayer written by Robert Louis Stevenson while he was spending his last years in Samoa, with his family around him.

LORD, behold our family here assembled. We thank Thee for this place in which we dwell; for the love that unites us; for the peace accorded us this day; for the hope with which we expect the morrow; for the health, the work, the food and the bright skies that make our lives delightful; for our friends in all parts of the earth, and our friendly helpers in this foreign isle.

Let peace abound in our small company. Purge out of every heart the lurking greed. Give us grace and strength to forbear and persevere. Offenders, give us the grace to accept and to forgive offenders. Forgetful ourselves, help us to bear cheerfully the forgetfulness of others.

Give us courage, gaiety and the quiet mind. Spare us to our friends, soften to us our enemies. Bless us, if it may be in all our innocent endeavors. If it may not, give us the strength to encounter that which is to come, that we brave it in peril, constant in tribulation, temperate in wrath, and in all changes of fortune and down to the gates of death, loyal and loving one to another.

As the clay to the potter, as the windmill to the wind, as children to their sire, we beseech of Thee this help and mercy for Christ's sake. Amen.

AID PROGRAM

IS UNLAWFUL

By G. K. HODENFIELD

AP Education Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A prominent educator said today that President Kennedy's proposed program of college scholarships violates the Constitution, and may open the door to federal grants to parochial schools.

Edgar Fuller, executive secretary of the Council of Chief State School Officers, said the program is unconstitutional because it provides direct grants of $350 a year to the college—public or private—attended by the scholarship winner.

If this principle is approved for church-controlled colleges, Fuller said, "tomorrow the same practice may be presented as suitable for church-controlled secondary schools."

OFFICERS FAVOR PROGRAM
Fuller said the chief state school officers are on record in favor of a federal scholarship program. Fuller's quarrel is with the proposed payments of $350 to church-related colleges. The $350 is designed to make up some of the difference between the student's tuition and fees, and the actual cost of educating him.

"If federal aid to parochial schools is unconstitutional, and the President himself says it is, then so is federal aid to church-controlled colleges," Fuller said in an interview.

"The aim at all levels of church-related schools is the same," he added, "the teaching of a particular religion. That is their sole purpose, and the colleges acknowledge it freely in their catalogues."

"Whenever the federal government becomes involved in financing church-related schools or colleges—whether by loans or grants—it is in effect helping to establish a religion. And that is expressly forbidden by the Constitution."

The harvest moon is so-called because for several successive days the moon rises soon after sunset. This gives farmers in north temperate latitudes extra hours of light in which to harvest their crops before frost comes.

No jurors were selected Monday. Fifteen were rejected.

The three are charged with conspiring to cheat and defraud the City of Pittsburgh of $11,000 through property repairs.

On trial along with Greene are C. Raymond Lappe, 56, suspended assistant superintendent of the City Lands and Buildings Dept., and Lawrence Martin, 50, a contractor from the city's Brookline section.

SHOWS SUNDAY

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Broadcasting Co., in a sort of salute to spring, Sunday gave the audiences special television programs on a wholesale basis.

There was an opera, a bouncy musical on "Omnibus," an original religious drama and a Noel Coward play—five and one half hours of solid, superior and varied viewing.

First there was the NBC Opera Company in a new production of Mussorgsky's "Boris Godunov." Visually, it was a magnificent production. The voices were rich, the costumes and settings were handsome. Also, it was sung in English (NBC opera policy) but herein lay one great flaw. The English words, even those in the solos, might as well have been in Russian—they were still almost completely unintelligible. As a consequence, the slow-moving drama was difficult to follow.

Maybe it would be better to have someone fill us in on plots during station breaks.

"Omnibus," which followed, turned out one of the most delightful amusing musical shows of the year. For its final show of the season, "Omnibus" tossed away its dignity and just had some fun.

JUST SONGS

There was no dialogue—just songs. Edie Adams, Robert Goulet and Myron McCormick were the singing stars who piloted the dancers down a gay road of popular music from Victorian days to the present.

Hall of Fame's Easter program was "Give Us Barabbas," a television drama by Henry Denker which speculated on what happened to the thief who was freed while Jesus of Nazareth went to the cross.

The 90-minute play was lovingly and tenderly produced and acted. James Daly played Barabbas—perhaps a shade too aggressively. And it might have been better if scenes had not been enacted on Calvary and inside the empty tomb after the stone had rolled away. Both seemed a little presumptuous, even though the play was highly motivated.

SHORE HAD SPECIAL

Dinah Shore, too, had something very special for us—Noel Coward's "Brief Encounter," and Ralph Bellamy as her co-star.

Dinah, after all these Sunday nights of singing and dancing, has not forgotten how to act. The little drama about two married people who meet, fall in love and part was done very well.

And Miss Shore, although suffering mightily, still managed to have a gorgeous wardrobe.

Thank you, NBC.

SELECTING JURY

In Fraud Case

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The selection of a jury continues today in the fraud trial of City Councilman Homer R. Greene, 72, and two other men in Allegheny County Court.

No jurors were selected Monday. Fifteen were rejected.

The three are charged with conspiring to cheat and defraud the City of Pittsburgh of $11,000 through property repairs.

On trial along with Greene are C. Raymond Lappe, 56, suspended assistant superintendent of the City Lands and Buildings Dept., and Lawrence Martin, 50, a contractor from the city's Brookline section.

TWO KILLED

ON TURNPIKE

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP)—Two men were killed and two others critically injured in an auto-truck collision Monday on the Pennsylvania Turnpike near here.

Investigators said one of those killed was Steven Natowitz of New York City. The other victim was not immediately identified.

The two in critical condition in Carlisle Hospital are David Miller, 19, of Newark, N. J., and Steve Shugar, 20, of Brooklyn.

A spokesman said cards found on the young men indicated they were students at Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, Ill., and they probably were returning to classes.

He said the driver apparently lost control of the car about a half mile west of the Blue Mountain Tunnel, went across the center grass strip and struck the side of the truck driven by Charles C.

Bullets Meet Villanova Here Wednesday At 2:30; Host Syracuse Thursday

Gettysburg College's baseball team will inaugurate its 1961 campaign Wednesday afternoon when it plays host to Villanova. Game time is slated for 2:30.

Following the Villanova game, the Bullets will come right back Thursday afternoon to tangle with Syracuse on the local field.

Although head coach Bob Hulton has had little time in preparing his diamond squad, he has been able to put a starting lineup together. The Bullet mentor is undecided about his starting pitcher, but he indicated that it will be either Bruce Simpson, Mel Jacobs or Gordon Kissner.

Simpson turned in a 0-4 record last season while Jacobs led the Bullets with a 4-2 mark. Kissner was used primarily in the outfield but did toss two innings in relief. All three men are right-handers.

LITTLE MAY CATCH

Junior Earl Little and veteran Senior Keith Quigley will share the catching assignment. This will be Little's first season on the baseball squad while Quigley played in five games a year ago.

The infield will shape up with Ken Fruchter at first base, the second base job going to Jack Norwood and either Ted Koerner or George Schalick stationed on third. The shortstop post is a toss up between Jim Riccobono and Tom Perkins.

Four players will be battling for the starting berths in the outfield. The leading candidates are King Gore, Bill Hoffman and Jerry Robertson. Kissner will also be in line for a job in the pasture if he does not start on the hill.

Gettysburg will be looking for more improvement over last season's 9-9 record. The Bullets' encounter with Syracuse was washed out, but Villanova captured a 10-5 decision in the season's first outing at Villanova.

'CATS TO BE STRONG

Despite the loss of 17 members from the squad which won 15 and lost five last year, Coach Art Mahan of Villanova expects to field another strong Wildcat team. Boistering the sprinkling of veterans is a class group of Sophomore candidates.

Phil Fidalgo, Junior southpaw, is the lone experienced hurler on the squad and will start against the Bullets. Last year he won eight and lost three games while fanning 133 batters.

OWNER OF REDS PASSES AWAY; HEART ATTACK

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Powell Crosley Jr., president and principal owner of the Cincinnati Reds National League baseball club, died of a heart attack at his home today. He was 74.

Crosley had returned here only a few days ago from Florida, where he had been watching the Reds in spring training. He had spent most of the winter in the South. He had suffered a heart attack several weeks ago.

Crosley, in addition to his ownership of the Reds, formerly was active in radio and industry. In recent years, however, he had disposed of all his business holdings except for the baseball team.

HAD MANY ENTERPRISES

Crosley's business enterprises included radio broadcasting, radio, electric refrigerator and automobile manufacturing.

A native of Cincinnati, he bought the Reds in 1934 when the future of the franchise was in doubt. By 1939 the Reds, under Crosley's ownership, had brought Cincinnati its first National League pennant since 1919. The team won again in 1940 and went on to take the world championship.

Crosley made Cincinnati the first team in the major leagues to install light and play night baseball.

He is survived by a brother, Lewis M. Crosley and a sister, Mrs. Albert Chaffield, both of Cincinnati; a daughter, Mrs. Page Crosley Kess, also of Cincinnati, five grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Crosley was married four times. Two of his former wives still are living.

HONG KONG (AP)—Mrs. Robert McCann crossed into Communist China today en route to see her 60-year-old husband, an American prisoner of the Communists who is reported dying of lung cancer.

The Red government gave the Pasadena, Calif., woman a two-week visa to visit her husband. She plans to appeal to officials in Peking to release him because of his critical condition.

McCann, a former businesswoman in North China, has been in Tientsin jail since June 1951, serving a 15-year sentence for unspecified "crimes against the state."

PINSON KNOWS PITCHERS WHO THROW AT HIM

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
TAMPA (AP)—"I don't know whether pitchers were throwing at me more last season," Vada Pinson of the Cincinnati Reds said today, "but I do know I got hit more."

"I got hit five times last year," added the young outfielder, a dangerous guy with a bat, "and it was Dodger pitchers who got me four of the times. The other time was against the Giants."

The knock-down habit of Los Angeles pitchers when it came to Pinson was no surprise. Not after his home plate collision with Roger Craig that put the Dodger right hander on the sidelines with a broken collar bone early in the season.

"Craig was standing right on the plate," said Pinson. "He never should have been there. Hodges (first baseman) should have been there."

COULDN'T STOP

"They had me in a run down, chased me all the way back to third, but I got away. Then Gilman (third baseman) ran me all the way to the plate. I was just a couple of feet away when I felt the ball whiz past my ear to Craig. I couldn't stop and I could not keep from hitting him. I could have got hurt, too."

"The next night I expected they'd throw at me. Stan Williams hit me on the arm, but I wasn't real sure they were throwing at me until Ed Roebuck came in. You know Roebuck, he pitches down here, around the knees, sinkers."

"His first pitch to me was behind my head. So was the second one. Then I was sure," said Pinson, laughing.

Toronto May Lose Kelly In Playoff

DETROIT (AP)—The trailing Toronto Maple Leafs may have to go without fighting Red Kelly again tonight in the resumption of their Stanley Cup hockey series with the Detroit Red Wings.

Coach Punch Imlach says he doesn't know. Kelly has been in trouble since suffering a pulled groin muscle near the end of the regular National Hockey League season.

While the Red Wings were resting in Toledo Monday on their 2-1 lead in the best-of-seven series, Imlach put the Leafs through an hour's drill that slackened only for moments at a time.

Montreal In Tough Shape For Contest

CHICAGO (AP)—Montreal's battered Canadiens are in trouble. Not only do the perennial hockey champions find themselves trailing the Chicago Black Hawks 2-1 in their best-of-seven semifinal Stanley Cup playoffs, but if they are to even things in Chicago Stadium tonight, they'll have to do it without the help of their leading scorer.

Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion, who tied Maurice Richard's league record of 50 goals this season, will miss tonight's game because of a wrenched knee. Also a doubtful starter is Ralph Backstrom who has a swollen ankle.

To add to the Canadiens' woes, their coach, Toe Blake, was slapped with a $2,000 fine—one of the stiffest in National Hockey League history—for taking a punch at referee Dalton McArthur following the Canadiens' 2-1 loss to Chicago Sunday.

4 Pennsylvanians Drafted By Pros

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Four players from Pennsylvania teams were selected Monday in the National Basketball Association draft, including two from Duquesne University.

Cincinnati picked Bob Slobodnik of the Dukes and Boston took his teammate, Ned Twyman.

Jack Egan of St. Joseph's was selected by Philadelphia.

Detroit chose Ray Scott of Allentown of the Eastern League.

In addition to Egan the other Philadelphia draft choices were: Tom Meschery, St. Mary's (Calif.); Ted Luckenbill, Houston; John Tiwell, Michigan; Bruce Spraggins, Virginia Union; Dick Goldberg, of Mississippi Southern, and Charles McNeil, Maryland.

CHICO VEJAR THROUGH WITH RING CAREER

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—After 117 fights spanning 11 years, Chico Vejar hung up his gloves today to become a public relations expert "because I'm a proud man."

"The road for me now would be all down hill," said the 29-year-old middleweight from Stamford, Conn. "I'm no longer thinking like a fighter. I have the savvy, the know-how, but I lack the fire."

Vejar never did get close to the middleweight title he aimed for over the years. When he started fighting as a pro, he was a student of dramatic arts at New York University. After a couple of years, he quit school to concentrate on fighting.

CLOSED WITH WIN

He wound up his career Monday night at St. Nicholas Arena with a unanimous 10-round decision over Willie Greaves of Edmonton, Alta. It was close.

"I should have done better, but I didn't," said Vejar, who shows the marks of his 93 victories, 20 losses and four draws. "But that's the end. If I had looked like a million dollars, I wouldn't continue."

"I'm completely finished. I don't even want to be a manager or a trainer."

Vejar is going with the Cerebral Palsy Foundation as a public relations man. He donated part of his purse to the organization.

It's closer to his heart than the money he'll make out of it. His 2-year-old son has cerebral palsy.

LAKERS TAKE WESTERN LEAD

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The fiery Los Angeles Lakers—thanks to uncanny Elgin Baylor—have the St. Louis Hawks down 3-2 in the Western finals for the second straight year, but they vow "we won't let 'em up this time."

The Lakers—to a man—remembered they lost the series after taking a 3-2 lead by winning the fifth game at St. Louis 120-113 last season. They made it clear they were determined to take it all this time, after winning the fifth game Monday night 121-112.

"We're going to win it in six this time," said Baylor, whose 47 points and great all-around game killed the Hawks.

The Hawks won the sixth game on the Laker court last year by 21 points, then clinched the Western playoff title of the National Basketball Association in the seventh game at home.

St. Louis will be without 6-foot-9 Clyde Lovellette, a great outside shooter who's had a tough series, but is always a big threat, in Wednesday night's game. Big Clyde suffered a twisted lower spine and may have a slipped disc. He is out for the season.

Capture Robbers
After Car Chase

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A gunman robbed the Borean Savings and Loan Association of $3,000 Monday and then was captured with two alleged accomplices after a wild car chase, police reported.

Charged with robbery and conspiracy were David Montgomery, 35, the alleged gunman, his wife, Nora, 30, and Lawrence Hall, 30. All were Negroes.

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—Shouting "Down with America," a crowd of 20,000 stoned the U. S. Embassy Monday night in protest against U. S. support for a United Nations inquiry into Portuguese Angola.

Mounted Republican Guards used tear gas to break up the demonstration.

The embassy doors had been locked and the staff had left before the demonstration.

Girl Cagers Hold Party At Fairfield

Members of the Fairfield High School girls' basketball squad held a party at the school last Friday evening.

Miss Yvonne Herring, team captain, presented a gift to Miss Barbara Delvin, coach, on behalf of the squad in appreciation of her leadership during the season.

Miss Delvin then presented identification bracelets to the three seniors on the squad, the Misses Herring, Carolyn Gembe and Anna Miller.

Games were played and refreshments served.

DODGERS CAMP 'OPTIMISTIC' OVER PENNANT

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—There is so much optimism in the Los Angeles Dodgers' camp that even Walter Alston, the ultra conservative manager, says the team can go all the way.

"Provided," he adds cautiously, "we get a little more sock."

"Sock," as Alston put it, is the only ingredient lacking in this otherwise solid pennant contender that has powerful pitching, airtight fielding and speed to burn.

In addition, the Dodgers have one of the finest arrays of young talent seen in a spring training camp.

The youngsters ticketed for key Dodger roles are Frank Howard (24), Willie (20) and Tommy Davis (22), Charley Smith (23), Ron Perranokis (24) and perhaps Doug Camilli (24). Howard, 6-7 and weighing 243, was the league's rookie of the year in 1960.

Playing in 117 games, he hit .268, led the team in home runs with 23 and had 77 runs batted in. He also fanned 108 times.

DAVIS IN CENTER
Willie Davis will open in center field. Willie was named minor league rookie of the year after hitting .346 at Spokane. He joined the Dodgers late in the season and batted .318 in 22 games.

Tommy Davis is in his second year with the Dodgers. An outfielder when he came up, he's getting a trial at third base.

"It looks like we'll be a singles hitting and a running club, except for Howard and maybe Duke Snider and Gil Hodges, depending on how much they'll play," Alston said. "Right now I've got a pretty good juggling act going. The problem is how to select the kids to balance out the club. I intend to carry two catchers, John Roseboro and Norm Sherry, because I know if I need him, Hodges can always go behind the plate. But the way young Camilli is playing, he may make me keep him."

VERY IMPRESSIVE
Camilli, son of Dolph Camilli, the former Dodger and Philadelphia first baseman, has impressed with his catching and throwing ability.

The Dodgers may have the strongest pitching staff in the National League. It's certainly one of the youngest. Don Drysdale (15-14), the ace of the staff, is only 25. So is Sandy Koufax (8-13). Stan Williams (14-10) is 24 and Johnny Podres (14-12) is 28. Roger Craig (8-3), at 30, is the oldest.

Alston plans to open the season with Howard at first base, Charley Neal at second, Maury Wills at short and Tommy Davis at third. In the outfield, he probably will open with Wally Moon in left, Willie Davis in center and either Don Demeter or Duke Snider in right.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Joseph (Pep) Barone, manager of No. 1 ranking heavyweight challenger Sonny Liston, says Liston would be delighted to fight Ingemar Johansson of Sweden next September.

But, Barone added Monday, Johansson's manager, Edwin Ahlquist, would have to "give us some protection against a postponement or cancellation."

Barone said also that he would be "bound to try for a better financial deal" than the $25,000 he said Ahlquist offered Liston as a minimum guarantee to fight Johansson in Sweden next September.

Liston's first choice, if he could get a title shot, naturally would be to fight champion Floyd Patterson, who successfully defended his crown by beating Johansson several days ago.

Barone said that he received Ahlquist's offer in a telegram and that he would have to talk to him directly before he could make a commitment.

Poultrymen Fear Kennedy Farm Plan May Hurt Their Exporting Of Poultry Meat

By RICHARD L. GRAVES
HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania poultry meat producers see a bright future for disposing of their production in overseas markets.

But at the same time they are apprehensive lest domestic farm programs upset their competitive position.

Thanks to the automation revolution in poultry meat output, costs in poultry meat output, cost of the produce have dropped consistently since World War II.

STAPLE FARE NOW

Poultry meat has moved from the semi-luxury category to staple fare. The reason is the sharp decline in poultry meat prices, while prices of other commodities have steadily edged upward. The lowering prices also helped the nation's poultry producers to get a foothold in European markets.

Since 1955 the yearly average producer price per pound of broiler meat—the top grade poultry—has dropped from 25.2 cents to 16.1 cents in 1960. In the northeastern states, such as Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware and Virginia, the price range was about the same.

Though some of the price drop has represented profit problems for poultrymen, most of it has resulted from stepped-up efficiency in production and favorable feed prices.

EXPORTS MOUNTING

In 1956 the nation's poultry exports totaled some 41.8 million pounds. Those figures represent only frozen poultry meat.

There has been a comparable growth in canned poultry exports—from 2.8 million pounds in 1946 to 12.8 million pounds in 1960.

West Germany was the leading importer last year, accounting for some 81 million pounds. The U. S. Agricultural Marketing Service said the figure would have been higher, but the German government restricted its poultry meat imports.

SOME APPREHENSION

Next in order of quantity purchased were Switzerland and Canada.

But the nation's poultry meat exports are linked with the price of the meat relative to demand. Demand is linked to the competitive prices of other meats in the foreign countries or home-grown poultry.

That's where the poultrymen's apprehension of domestic farm programs moves in.

The Kennedy Administration in Washington this week acted to boost price supports for feed grains.

Increased feed support prices will tend to upgrade over-all feed prices. That means poultrymen—who are among the leading purchasers of feed grains—face a higher price for a main item of cost of production.

Feed prices already have shown an upward swing.

High Scorers On Patriot's Big 15

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Big 15 high school basketball team selected by the Harrisburg Patriot News packs plenty of scoring punch. Four of its members scored over 600 points this season.

The Big 15 was chosen by a panel of 36 sports writers from around the state.

The team (school, height and scoring totals):

Phil Albert, Conemaugh, 6-0 (588); Ronnie Allen, Wampum, 6-2 (446); George Suder, Aliquippa, 6-2 (402); Dave Thomas, Shamokin, 6-2 (478); Ronnie Krick, West Reading, 6-9 (618); Don Yates, Uniontown, 6-3 (485); Willie Alford, Farrell, 6-3 (350).

Lorry Hathaway, Mt. Lebanon, 6-5 (335); Ken Leggins, Nanticoke, 6-4 (607); Joe Natale, Reading, 6-1 (411); Dennis Ferguson, Springdale, 6-0 (410); Emerson Baynard, Chester, 6-4 (632); John Matthews, Bethlehem, 6-2 (364); Danny Kristoff, Steel-High, 6-1 (554); Buddy Quertinmont, Albert Gallatin, 6-3 (687).

FAVORS BOAT SAFETY PLAN

HARRISBURG (AP) — A New York State official says Pennsylvania could profit from a boating safety program similar to one introduced last year in his state.

Casimir E. Latkowski, chief of boating education and safety for New York, described the program at the annual banquet meeting of the Pennsylvania Pleasure Boat Association Saturday night.

He said boating accidents in his state fell from an all-time high to a 10-year low after the program was put into effect. The PPNA is sponsoring similar legislation in the General Assembly. It would transfer authority for enforcing boating laws from the State Fish Commission to the Department of Forests and Waters.

Latkowski said 6,500 volunteers, all boatmen, conducted special courses to acquaint the public with water safety. Visual guides were used in instruction periods, he added.

The cost to the state was less than 50 cents a pupil, Latkowski said.

PLAYER EDGES PALMER TO COP SUNSHINE OPEN

By WHITNEY MARTIN

Associated Press Sports Writer
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Gary Player today had a nice $3,500 present for his son, Mark, whom he saw for the first time Saturday although the boy was born Feb. 17.

Player, from Johannesburg, South Africa, has been over here since the first of the year playing the golf tournament tour. His wife, young daughter and new son arrived here to join him Saturday, in the midst of the $25,000 Sunshine Open Golf Tournament.

The stocky invader won the event Sunday by one stroke with a 72-hole total of 273 and the $3,500 top money boosted his 1961 earnings to $25,081.

NEEDED BIRDIE

With Arnold Palmer charging down the stretch in his typical fashion, Player bogeyed the 16th and 17th holes, and faced the necessity of birdieing the final hole, which Palmer already had birdied for a 274 total.

Player's second shot was in a gaping trap 120 feet from the pin on the 488-yard par 5 hole of the Bayshore course. His blast carried the ball five feet from the cup, and he sank the putt. It gave him a 69 for his final round as Palmer carded a 66.

Gary had started the final round tied for the lead at 204 with Gay Brewer Jr., and stolid Julius Boros. Boros and Brewer shot themselves out of contention with 72s.

Dave Ragan had a 65, but he had started seven strokes back at 211.

Bill Casper Jr. had a 67, but he was 210 at the three-quarter mark. Gordon Jones had a 66, but he was back at 213.

Mike Souchak, with a final round 67, finished third with 275; Boros, Brewer and Ragan tied for fourth at 276, and Casper was alone at 277. Sam Snead was tied with Jay Hebert and Bobby Nichols in the 278 bracket.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

YORK MAN ON DOWNED PLANE

YORK, Pa. (AP)—A mother and father waited anxiously today for word about the fate of their son who is among eight Americans reported missing in Communist-threatened Laos.

The State Department said over the weekend "nothing has been heard" from a C47 transport which left the Laotian capital of Vientiane on a flight Thursday. On it was Warrant Officer Edgar W. Weitkamp Jr., formerly of York. "We've got everything turned on," said his father, Edgar Weitkamp, in explaining that he and his wife have been listening to radio and television for news of their son's whereabouts.

Weitkamp said he received a letter from his son last Wednesday. However, he declined Sunday to discuss the contents of the letter. He said there has been no further word since the State Department reported the plane was missing.

The younger Weitkamp's wife, Eleanor, lives in Arlington, Va. The couple has no children. The missing serviceman is a 13-year Army veteran. He is a graduate of Red Lion High School.

"Bughouse Square" is the name of a small park in Chicago, situated on land given to the city with the stipulation that it was to be a place of free speech.

STATE TROOPER DIES IN CRASH

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — A Pennsylvania state trooper died Monday less than an hour after his auto crashed into a utility pole in the northeastern section of the city, only a few miles from his home. The trooper was off duty and traveling alone in his own car.

Dr. Gilbert Clime, the coroner, said an autopsy has been ordered to determine the cause of the death of Leo A. Fitzgerald, about 34. Clime said that from first indications it appears that Fitzgerald may have suffered a heart attack. Police reported there were no signs of skid marks.

REPORTED ILL

State police said that Fitzgerald had been reported off duty Saturday because of illness. They could not say immediately what the nature of the illness was.

Neither could Fitzgerald's wife, Patricia, provide much information. She was hysterical when summoned to Lancaster General Hospital. Investigators were only able to learn from her that Fitzgerald had just left the house shortly before the accident.

Fitzgerald, a native of Wayne, Pa., near Philadelphia, had been stationed with Troop B at Lancaster since 1950. In addition to his wife, he is survived by three daughters.

His Last Words...

Today thou shalt be with me in Paradise

EDITOR'S NOTE — Is death the end, or do our daily acts, character and faith have eternal significance? Christ gave the answer from the cross. In this second of five articles on His last utterances, a Methodist bishop offers his thoughts on the poignant text.

By BISHOP
RICHARD C. RAINES
Written For The Associated Press
"Today thou shalt be with me in paradise."

What irony! The most noble person in history is being crucified between two thieves. One taunts and sneers at him: "If you are the Messiah, why don't you get yourself and us out of here? Talk's cheap. Act, man, act!"

The other thief is more alert, sees deeper: "For shame. Do you not fear God, being so near death? We are justly condemned, but this man has done nothing wrong."

Turning to Jesus, he says: "Remember me when you come in your kingly power."

Jesus replies: "Today thou shalt be with me in paradise."

Why are the last words of Christ so precious, so minutely examined?

Last words have a strange fasciination for some because those near death are thought to offer us glimpses into the next world. Others are stirred because they believe the approach of death strips off the mask of pretense from the dying and reveals them for what they really are.

But Jesus' last words are cherished because He has changed the course of history. Multitudes of varied and valuable meanings are found in them because His life, death and resurrection mark Him as more than a man. Believing, acting as if this were true, men experience Him as Savior and Lord.

These words spoken from the cross to a penitent thief reveal that Jesus was the same in dying as in living. Jesus sensed penitence and a dawning faith in the thief. He forgave at once. God forgives this way — not reluctantly or partially but eagerly and completely.

QUALITY OF SYMPATHY

Jesus' reply to the thief shows that the unique quality of His sympathy was not changed by His own agony. His concern took in everybody, even a thief — perhaps especially a thief — anyone in need. His sympathy never wore thin, even in His own exhaustion and anguish on the cross.

"Today thou shalt be with me in paradise" says to me death is not the end. Beyond the torture of the cross and the death which would mercifully end it would be continued life where Jesus and the thief would know each other.

It means that we are more than mere intelligent animals. We are potential sons of God. It means our daily acts, character, and faith have eternal significance.

Christ's words to the thief indicate His awareness that He was more than a man who could be killed. He was God's sent one — God's Son. An incarnation indeed had taken place.

"RIGHTS AND DIGNITY"

Because Christ reveals God's character, purpose, spirit and love for each of us, however unworthy we are, we see ourselves and every man as having rights and dignity. God has put a spark of Himself in each of us. We are, therefore, destined for eternity and, by God's grace, can rise above animal instincts and live for the common good.

Increasingly, since the advent of the nuclear age, people are asking almost in agony, "Is there a God? What is He like? What is His power and purpose?"

People want to know if God has seen the inner twist of pride, egoism, and passion which hold us in captivity and if He has come in Christ to rescue us, to offer a new way of life. They are asking if God's continuing presence, which we call the Holy Spirit, is available to each of us — to forgive, empower, and guide us.

I find a ringing and convincing "yes" to each of these questions in Jesus' words from the cross:

"Today thou shalt be with me in paradise."

(Tomorrow: "Woman, behold thy son... behold thy mother.")

CHANGE SITE OF CWCC MEET

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil War Centennial Commission plans to move its April 11-12 assembly to the Charleston, S.C., naval station to avoid racial barriers in the city proper.

The change in plans was in compliance with President Kennedy's antidiscrimination policies, said the commission chairman, Maj. Gen. U.S. Grant III (ret.).

Kennedy had written the commission that it had an obligation to avoid racial discrimination in its activities. His letter followed the complaint of a New Jersey Negro woman, planning to attend the assembly, that she had been denied a room.

The state centennial commissions of New Jersey, New York, California and Illinois had withdrawn, mainly for racial reasons, from the meeting to commemorate the firing on Ft. Sumter 100 years ago.

In his announcement, Grant, grandson of the Civil War general, said every effort will be made to lodge commission members, delegates from state commissions and representatives of attending organization at the station where no segregation is practiced. About 200 to 300 persons are expected.

HUMAN HEARTS ARE NOT CAST IN THE SAME MOULD

We are Born, Live and Die as Individuals

Each life... each family... is different from the next. Each is proud of its deeds, its name, its special memories.

That is why civilized people have always erected Family monuments... to express their special remembrance, to keep their personal family history. Not in row upon row of similar markers, as though all lives were the same, but in separate, distinctive memorials, planned to tell a distinct and personal story... to pay a personal tribute... to give separate meaning and dignity to each plan in the cemetery.

WILL THEY STILL ERECT MONUMENTS 100 YEARS FROM NOW?

THE ANSWER IS YES.

Just as the baptismal service, marriage ceremony and the funeral services are old and revered traditions, with deep sentiment that we would not think of abandoning, so too is the erecting of a monument just as old or older in deep sentiment and tradition.

MONUMENTS SURVIVED THE LAST NEW FAD

Something to think about in connection with the garden type cemetery is the fact that about 35 to 40 years ago another new fad was started with the building of the public mausoleum. The reasons for this fad coming to an end are the exact same reasons that show up as disadvantages in the garden type cemetery. In other words, both the graves in the garden type cemetery and the crypts in the mausoleum are devoid of distinction, suffer from monotony and are difficult to find. In addition, the flush metal markers in the garden type cemetery are subject to corrosion and COVERED WITH SNOW during part of the winter.

A Monument is forever beautiful, always visible. It is not only the last and eternal tribute to the dead, but it is a source of comfort and an inspiration to the living.

Riding with Russell

by FREDERICK C. RUSSELL

Viewing the wreckage it is easy to explain what some motorists were driving at.

Cutting corners on investment in repairs continues to be one of the unnecessary expenses in car ownership. Often what seems to be a saving turns out to be the beginning of another repair bill.

Anyone who has reservations about this should visit the nearest repair shop and note the number of cars which are now getting the attention they should have received on a previous session. Here we find the hydraulic valve lifters that should have been replaced instead of merely cleaned up, the new brake lining that was spoiled because the owner would not invest in new brake cylinder parts to prevent possible leakage, and the wasted tune-ups that failed because engines needed new rings or a general overhaul.

A few extra dollars usually are what really count when buying repairs because they will cover the important extras. Sometimes these can be handled economically because important units of the car already have been disassembled. Starting again from scratch a few months later doubles the cost.

THOSE ELUSIVE JOINTS

You can't blame an experienced motorist for being a bit puzzled when, knowing that his new car has a special kind of propeller shaft with no universal joints, he reads in the owner's manual that the universals should be checked and re-packed every 25,000 miles. A misprint? Not at all. There are universals in this car, but they are located at the inner ends of the rear axles which are of the "swing" type. That is, the rear wheels are independently sprung just as are the front wheels.

If your car is equipped with an automatic transmission which down-shifts to lower gears as car speed drops, keep in mind that should the rear wheels lock when you apply the brakes on a skiddy surface the transmission will go into Low. This adds to the braking force since compression is then maximum as a brake, so the situation calls for immediate shifting to Neutral. By this time you have released the brakes so that the wheels can start to get rolling again and stop the slide. Then dab the brake pedal intermittently and gently until the car is under control.

The downshifting of the transmission under such conditions is usually quite evident, but a sure clue to the fact that the wheels have locked is that the speedometer will immediately drop to zero.

MECHANIC JOE SPEAKING:

"Motorists who have gone back to standard shift—and I do mean back—should be prepared for coping with clutch chatter which can develop from oil getting on the disc. This can come from the engine or from the transmission. Loose motor mounts, or need for a motor tune-up, will also bring on chatter. But one cause of this trouble which is easily overlooked is a cocked pressure plate. Important too is having the clutch release levers properly adjusted."

IN THE MOTOR MAIL

Q. What would cause the engine to stall during idling when there is no overheating or tendency toward missing? Idle speed has been increased a little without any results. K. L. T.

A. This engine has had a lot of service, so how about a leaky intake manifold that would lean the mixture too much?

Q. When should the pads be replaced on the disc brakes of my import? The brakes are self adjusting but I am not getting top deceleration. N. H. L.

A. Replace the pads when they are worn down to a thickness of 1/8 inch.

Q. Whenever I am running out too much throttle the engine seems to develop a surging action. I have checked the carburetor float and the level, and also the fuel pump. Nothing seems to be abnormal, but the surging is there. P. McB.

A. This can be due to a clogged vent in the car tank cap.

Q. Sometimes the engine refuses to start until I move the selector lever out of the Neutral position and then back again. When she cranks the battery seems lively enough. This started about a month ago and then seemed to clear up. Now it is back again. Why the variations? J. J. D.

A. The trouble is with the neutral starting switch. You can't crank unless the selector lever is in the Neutral position on your car. Moving the lever away from Neutral and then back again will often serve to make contact. Have the switch replaced.

Q. The valves of my car have become very noisy. Have always used a detergent oil to keep the hydraulic lifters clean. F. T. E.

A. The oil level may be too low or too high.

Q. Brake fluid seems to be leaking out around the front of the brake master cylinder at a point where the brake rod enters. W. H.

A. This indicates that the secondary cup of the master cylinder piston is leaking. Better have the cylinder rebuilt or replaced.

Q. What is the difference between braking time and reaction time? V. L. S.

A. Whenever a car is slowed down or stopped the driver takes time to lift his foot from the accelerator pedal and to start pressing on the brake pedal. This is known as the reaction time. The braking time is the period during which the car actually is being braked.

Q. For two days the right hand signal indicator light on the instrument panel blinks at just about twice the usual speed. Does this mean a new flasher is needed? J. D. McL.

A. You will find that one of the turn signal light bulbs on the right side of the car has burned out.

Mr. Russell will answer questions regarding the safe care and operation of your car. Just address him care of The Gettysburg Times and enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope for a personal reply. Please confine inquiries to one subject and limit letters to 100 words or less.

State Hatchery Fish Given Okay

HARRISBURG (AP) — State hatchery fish have been given a clean bill of health by an official of Pennsylvania's Fish Commission.

Dr. Albert S. Hazzard, assistant executive director said Monday the commission is continuously checking hatchery-bred fish since epidemics of cancer were reported in western hatcheries last year.

"We haven't observed any cases of cancer since the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service asked us last Summer to make a report," he added.

Hazzard's comments in an interview were sought in view of a recent published report which indicated that cancer in fish, especially trout, might be reaching epidemic proportions in the nation.

UNTOUCHABLES HEAD FOR MORE DANGER AREAS

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Untouchables," whose popularity continues undiminished in spite of its present name-calling troubles, is heading right into new danger areas.

In its episode for next week, it has two bad guys named Johnny Acropolis and Hymie Kurgman—both strongly suggestive of ethnic origins.

Since the gangster series has been having its headaches with Italian-American groups protesting the frequent use of Italianate names for villains, I've been checking the way other programs cope with the sensitive business of finding handles for heavies.

STEER AWAY

The problem usually concerns the police-action shows, and most steer gingerly away from anything but fairly common American-sounding ones, which means Anglo-Saxon.

For instance, "The Roaring Twenties" is coming up with a gangster named Anthony Dorrner. "77 Sunset Strip" is fond of names like Lewis, Davis, Jones, Carter and Langford. "Michael Shayne" goes in for the likes of Wills and Harlan. A passel of "Malibu Run" villains are named Baxter, Baron and Barker.

The villains of the last two "Checkmate" episodes have been called, respectively, George Thruxton and Jack Taggett.

IN REAL ESTATE

"Perry Mason," however, has been flirting with danger in the last two weeks—but from occupations, not names. The names were W. L. Picard and Stuart Benton, both safe as churches. However, it turns out that both villains were in the real estate

SAYS REACTION TO COMMUNISM COURSE GOOD

HARRISBURG (AP) — A new course of study comparing Communism and Democracy is drawing a favorable response among Pennsylvania school teachers, a state education official said today.

Joseph Gavenonis said his conclusion was based on requests for a suggested course outline received from educators across the state.

"We printed 5,000 copies of the outline for distribution to the various high schools," Gavenonis said in an interview. "We now have only 500 copies left."

It is impossible, without making a special survey, to determine just how many high schools are offering the course as part of their social science program, Gavenonis said.

ISSUED LAST YEAR

He got the state interested in the course in 1956 when he was state commander of the American Legion.

Gavenonis, director of the Public Instruction Department's Bureau of Private Schools and Veterans Education, played a major role in drafting the study outline for school teachers. It went out last year.

It is a nine-page paper that lists questions to be covered in the course, objectives of the study and reference books for teachers and students to use in preparing for classroom work.

"We have gotten most of our requests for the outline from teachers of social studies but others have been received from high school principals," Gavenonis said.

He added that Pennsylvania's action initiating the study has sparked interest in other states. After this state took the lead, 23 others followed and began offering a similar program of study, Gavenonis reported.

Dr. Cockerille Is Honored By PSU

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — Dr. Clara E. Cockerille, professor of education at Westminster College, today was named woman of the year for 1961 by Pennsylvania State University.

She will receive the award during reunion exercises on campus June 17.

Dr. Cockerille, a native of Altoona, formerly was supervisor of Altoona's elementary schools and once served as assistant superintendent of Armstrong County Schools.

ARREST MORE STUDENTS IN RESORT MELEE

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Police laboriously booked a big, new batch of college boys today while city fathers pondered how to head off more mob revelry by thousands of student vacationists.

An estimated 3,000 to 5,000 beer-drinking, hooting collegians kept the entire Fort Lauderdale police department on the jump Monday night.

Officers collared more than 100 young people and said they would charge them with disturbing the peace and public intoxication.

NO VIOLENCE

No violence or injuries were reported in contrast with Sunday night's riot when beer cans and rocks were hurled at police. But the college boys and some girls swarmed through the beach district tying up traffic and chanting demands for beer, the National Guard and access to Jade Beach.

Jade Beach, unlighted, has been closed at night to the Easter vacationists from colleges mostly in the North. City officials threatened earlier to call out the National Guard if Sunday's riot was repeated.

Mayor Edward Johns said after viewing Monday night's turmoil with police, "I don't want to see another night like this. We will have to take some kind of action."

INCREASING SINCE 1930S

Fort Lauderdale since the 1930s has been an increasingly popular resort for college students on an Easter break from classes. This year more than 25,000 already have checked in, roaming the beaches and making the rounds of bars and hamburger stands. When newsmen asked why the young people were engaging in the demonstration, the reply was, "Just for the sake of a rumble—something to do."

WINS POSTER CONTEST PRIZE

HARRISBURG (AP) — Linda Freed of Uniontown High School is the 1961 winner of Pennsylvania's Hire the Handicapped poster contest.

Her entry was picked as the best among 51 local contest winners Monday. The competition was sponsored by the Governor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped.

Linda will receive $200 in U. S. Savings Bonds from the Pennsylvania Moose Association. Four other state winners will receive a total of $375 in bonds, also given by the fraternal order.

They were: second, Allen Assad, Donora Senior High School, Donora; $150; third, Robert E. Barnes, Technical Memorial High School, Erie, $100; fourth, Frederick W. Schaeffer, Pottsville High School, $75, and fifth, Charles Williams, Edward Bok Vocational High School, Philadelphia, $50.

Attendancewise, the 1960 season was the biggest in National League history. Its eight teams played to 10,684,963 fans.

BUYING A USED CAR?

Timely Tips That Can Help Protect Your Investment!

1. Choose your dealer carefully.
2. Buy only from a well established reputable dealer.
3. Buy only from a dealer who maintains his own adequate facilities to service the car you buy.
4. Insist on a WARRANTY in writing that can be "backed-up."
5. BUYING from a NEW CAR DEALER IS YOUR BEST BET... Most new car dealers sell locally owned trade-ins, not Used Cars obtained from Auto Auctions or distress merchandise from large cities.
6. Insist on knowing where the Used Car came from. "Ask who was the previous owner." Most new car dealers will be happy to tell you and invite you to contact the previous owner.
7. New Cars bought from Used Car Dealers... REMEMBER, only the New Car Dealer is authorized to extend a FACTORY WARRANTY to a buyer, NO ONE ELSE.

STUDENTS ARE HALTED IN NEW RIOT OUTBREAK

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Police from six surrounding communities reinforced local authorities in putting down a riot by 3,500 vacationing college students, unhappy at being denied access to their favorite spot for romancing, an unlighted beach north of here.

The riot broke out Sunday night on busy U. S. A1A, flanked on one side by a warm, sandy beach and the Atlantic Ocean and on the other by a row of beer taverns where the students cool off between sun bathing sessions.

As resentment grew over closing of the unlighted beach, students began halting traffic by lying in front of cars. Police arrived and ordered the students to disperse, but were met with a volley of stones, beer cans and bottles.

FIRE TRUCKS CALLED

Police Chief J. Lester Holt called on all available police, firemen, sheriff's officers and Florida highway patrolmen. Traffic was routed away from the beach area and fire trucks and squad cars converged on the scene.

For nearly two hours the situation was out of control. The students surged through police lines, heckling the officers and continued peppering them with empty beer containers.

The riot began to weaken as high pressure fire hoses were trapped on front lines of the students and officers threw apparent trouble makers into paddy wagons. About 50 students were arrested on charges of disorderly conduct and another 25 were injured by flying glass from broken beer bottles.

MOST SERIOUS OUTBREAK

Control was restored as police brought in a truck with loud

MUST RETRACT LIES TO WOMEN

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—A man, whose name police want to remain anonymous, had a tough job on his hands today. Police said he will have to go around to several housewives and report to them that he told a lie.

Officers said the man visited several housewives in nearby Safe Harbor Monday and told them there was a new ordinance forbidding the burning of trash, that over 200 persons were fined $25 each for violation.

He was quoted as telling the housewives that they should sign a contract with him to permit him to haul away their trash. Two women became curious, phoned police.

Officers said there was no such ordinance. They tracked the man down, but admitted they couldn't bring any charges against him because the only thing he had done was to tell lies.

BOSTON (AP)—The Senate has passed a bill to ban fund-raising testimonial dinners for appointed public officials. Sen. Philip Graham, who proposed the measure, said testimonials which raise money for public officials who have regulatory powers could lead to conflicts of interest.

Maitre d'hotel butter is nothing more than soft butter mixed with a little lemon juice and minced parsley. Usually this combination is used as a topping for fish or steak.

speakers and warned students tear gas would be used. The outbreak was the most serious in the 16 years college students have been making pilgrimages here for their Easter vacations. Each year as the number of students participating has grown, there have been increasing cases of vandalism, disorderly conduct, public intoxication or other offenses, but they have been mostly minor.

Last year about 35,000 students arrived. Their visit cost Fort Lauderdale about $35,000 for maintenance and policemen's overtime salaries alone.

But the Chamber of Commerce estimates the students spend about a million dollars during the brief stay. Much of the financial exchange is concentrated on beer, hamburgers and sun tan lotions.

U. S. WILL PUT TELESCOPE IN ORBIT SHORTLY

By VERN HAUGLAND WASHINGTON (AP)—The first U. S. telescope-in-the-sky satellite designed to tumble end over end 10 times a minute as it whirled through space, may be launched this week.

Space scientists hope it will give them an opportunity to explore beyond the curtain of the earth's atmosphere.

The satellite's mission will be to hunt gamma rays in every corner of space. These rays are similar to X rays, but of shorter wave length. They are emitted by radioactive substances.

RESEMBLES TELESCOPE

The unique device, which resembles a telescope 7 1/2 feet long, may be fired aloft this week from Cape Canaveral, Fla., the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced today.

NASA said the tumbling motion "will enable the gamma ray telescope, aimed out through the end to scan a portion of the surrounding space every six seconds."

The 82-pound satellite will be launched into an elliptical, low-inclination orbit so it can scan the sun during the early part of its lifetime.

In order to provide the extra length and weight needed to attain a tumbling motion, its 44-inch fourth-stage rocket casing will remain attached to the telescope satellite.

PRIMARY OBJECTIVE

Plans call for the satellite to orbit between the altitudes of 300 and 700 miles. It is expected to circle the earth about every 98 minutes to have a useful lifetime of six months to a year, and to remain in orbit for more than three years.

The primary objectives will be to detect high energy gamma rays from cosmic sources—our own galaxy and neighboring galaxies—and to map their distribution in the sky.

SAVED BY PAPERS

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP)—A pile of newspapers on a grocery counter saved a clerk from possible death Monday night when a young robber fired at him. The bullet passed through the newspapers before it struck Ralph S. Kalenian, 33, in the abdomen. He was not seriously wounded.

NEW YORK (AP)—Actress Elizabeth Taylor, still weak from a case of double pneumonia that brought her near death, flies to Los Angeles today for four months of rest. The raven-haired beauty arrived Monday from London and stayed overnight at a hotel at the airport.

Ed Williamson has held a Chicago Cub record for 77 years. He hit 27 home runs in 1884 and no Cub third baseman has ever topped it.
